6. EVALUATION CRITERIA AND BONUS

6.1 Evaluation Criteria

The evaluation will be based on the candidate's merit, letters of motivation and work plan, and is carried out in two successive stages, documentary evaluation and individual interview.

Documentary evaluation

Applications considered admissible will be scored on a scale of 0-20, rounded to tenths, in each of the following evaluation criteria:

- Criterion A - curriculum vitae, weighing 70%;
 - Subcriterion A1 - Academic path, weighing 50%
 - Subcriterion A2 - personal curriculum, weighing 20%
- Criterion B - Motivation, weighing 10%
- Criterion C – Project, weighing 20%

For the purposes of admissibility to the interview, candidates will be ranked according to the weighted average of the classification obtained in each of the two criteria, translated by the following formula:

$$\text{Documentary evaluation (D)} = (0.70 \times A) + (0.10 \times B) + (0.20 \times C)$$

The first 30 candidates with a score equal to or higher than 14.0 points will be admitted to the interview.

Individual interview

The invitation for the individual interview, indicating the date and time, will be sent to the candidates to the email address indicated at the time of application. The interview may be conducted by videoconference.

In the individual interview, the candidate must make an oral presentation in English, of 10 min, which includes a brief description of his personal and scientific path, his motivation, as well as the most relevant aspects of his work plan. The classification of the interview will consider the demonstrated scientific knowledge and general culture, the experience and motivation for the research, and the communication skills (including knowledge of English).

Each member of the selection panel present at the interview (at least 3 members of the selection panel will be present at each interview) scores the candidate on a scale of 0 to 20.

The interview classification (E) is the final classification of the individual interview, which will result from the arithmetic average of the scores of the criteria evaluated by the elements of the selection panel present during the interview.

For the decision on the awarding of fellowships, applicants will be ranked according to the weighted average of the classification obtained in each of the two criteria, translated by the following formula:

$$\textit{Final classification} = (0.90 \times D) + (0.10 \times E)$$

For tie-breaking purposes, the ranking of candidates will be made based on the ratings assigned to each of the evaluation criteria in the following order of precedence: Interview, criterion A1, criterion B, criterion A2.

The values resulting from the application of any formulas specified in this notice will be rounded to the first decimal place, using the following rule: when the second decimal place is equal to or greater than 5 (five), it will be rounded up in excess; when the second decimal place is less than 5 (five), the value of the first decimal place will be maintained.

Important notice for candidates with diplomas issued by foreign higher education institutions:

- Candidates with diplomas issued by foreign higher education institutions can apply and will be evaluated using the same criteria as candidates with diplomas issued by Portuguese institutions, provided that they present, in their application, proof of recognition of academic degrees and the conversion of the final classification for the Portuguese classification scale under the terms of the applicable legislation.
- Candidates with foreign degrees who do not show proof of conversion from the final classification to the Portuguese classification scale will be assessed with the minimum classification (12 points) in criterion (A1).
